Keller Easterling is an architect, writer, and professor at Yale. Her most recent book, Extrastatecraft: The Power of Infrastructure Space (Verso, 2014), examines global infrastructure as a medium of polity. Another recent book, Subtraction (Sternberg, 2014), considers building removal or how to put the development machine into reverse. Her other books include Enduring Innocence: Global Architecture and its Political Masquerades (MIT, 2005) and Organization Space: Landscapes, Highways and Houses in America (MIT, 1999). Her research and writing were included in the 2014 and 2018 Venice Biennales. She lectures and exhibits internationally.

Meijia Xu is a freelance illustrator originally from China and currently based in New York. She wants to use her abstract visual code to communicate with you and the world.
